

YELLOW FEVER STORY.—The following amusing incident is related by a correspondent:

A gentleman from the country, who had been in Port Gibson sometime during the first week of the epidemic, and was riding home at a pretty smart gait, was brought up by a man running out of his house and inquiring:

"Say, have they got the rale yellow fever in town?"

"Oh, yes. There's no doubt of that I reckon," was the answer.

"And is it a fact they've got the quarantine 'long with it?' I'll swar, it's bad enough to have one disease, without havin' another to help it along!"

This filled the gentleman on the road "too full for utterance," and putting the switch to his horse, he was off to make the woods resound with his pent-up laughter. Reaching his destination he must tell it to a friend, a plain honest hearted man, who, however, had neglected the "rudiments."—The incident was too good to keep, and so he related it.

"Haw, haw, haw!" roared the honest John. "Why, dod darn the all-fired fool's soul to thunder, didn't he know that the quarantine was nothing but the black vomit?"

The last brick floored the news-bringer, and he "rolled."
